New 2020 “I Voted” Sticker Design Contest Winner To Be Announced Next Week

The winning design for the El Paso County 2020 “I Voted” sticker contest will be announced this Monday, November 18th. “We were thrilled with the response that we’ve received throughout this contest from students, teachers and the general public,” said Lisa Wise, El Paso County Elections Administrator. “We’ve received several calls supporting the project, inquiring about the winning design and requesting that we continue and even expand the contest to possibly include middle school students in the future,” Wise added.

The El Paso County Elections Department received over 65 submissions for the first El Paso County “I Voted” sticker design contest. The sticker will be distributed to voters at all Early Voting and Election Day polling sites during the 2020 elections. The judges will review each submission and select a first, second and third place design. Judging will be based on the artistic skill, theme, and uniqueness of the design. Three outstanding members of the community have agreed to participate as judges:

Dr. Catie McCorry-Andalis, Associate Vice President and Dean of Students, UTEP

“I am excited to serve as a judge for this contest not only because I myself have had the opportunity to learn more about the El Paso Elections Department but our young people have been given an opportunity to actively engage in the political process, something I value immensely.”

Armando Alvarez, Partner and Friendly Creative Director, Hello Amigo

“I accepted my participation as a judge for this contest because I believe everyone needs to participate in our democracy. By voting you are able to voice your opinion on issues that matter to you, your family and community.”

Patrick Gabaldon, Local Artist, Gabaldon Art

“It is an honor to be judging in this fun competition. My hope is that this project has inspired these young artists to constantly create-no matter their career choices or where life takes them. And that they use their talent to support causes and organizations they believe in, like getting people to the POLLS!”
